FUNERAL SEC. GOOD HELD IN WHITE HOUSE

Army Posts to Salute Dead Chief With 19 Guns at Retreat

BULLETIN
Washington, Nov. 20 — (AP)—The White House today cancelled all social functions on the calendar for December out of respect for the memory of the late Secretary Good.

Included were the diplomatic reception, usually one of the most brilliant of the season, which was to have been held on Dec. 5, and the cabinet dinner, which was on the program for Dec. 12.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 20 — (UP)—In the historic and flower-filled east room of the White House, President Hoover led the nation today in a final tribute to the memory of Secretary of War James W. Good.

Cabinet members, the highest officials of the government and the diplomatic corps also gathered to honor the War Secretary who died in a hospital here Monday night after an operation for gangrenous appendicitis.

The casket that bore Good's body stood before a large curtained window on the east side of the room and was draped with an American flag. At either end stood armed guards, their bayoneted muskets grounded.

As the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, stepped forward to the head of the casket, the guards left their posts.

Family In Green Room
Mrs. Good, with her two young sons, and other members of the immediate family sat alone in the Green room, adjoining the East Room, during the services.

President and Mrs. Longworth, and Vice President Curtis at either side, were seated in the front row nearest the casket.

The services began with a reading from the 11th Chapter of St. John's Gospel, 25th verse, "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

Reading of the 23rd Psalm followed. The assemblage then stood with bowed heads while the pastor delivered the invocation, ending with the Lord's Prayer. Three other scriptural readings were followed by the hymn "Abide With Me," and the services then were concluded with the pastoral benediction.

The Rev. Sizoo praised the former War Secretary for his self-effacing service, his splendid patriotism and for the example which he said Good's life had offered to the youth of America.

As his last words died away, the President rose and walked to the head of the casket where he cast one last look at the immobile face of the man whom he addressed as "My good friend," when he called at his bedside at the hospital last week.

In State Till 2 P. M.
The two guards resumed their places at the head and foot of the casket and the War Secretary's body was placed in state until 2 o'clock when it was to be sent to Cedar Rapids, Ia., for burial Friday.

Members of the Cabinet were honorary pallbearers.

President Hoover designated Lt. Colonel Campbell B. Hodges, White House military aide, to be his personal representative in the party which escorts the body to Cedar Rapids.

Secretary of the Navy Adams represents the Cabinet, and the War Department is sending Acting Secretary Patrick J. Hurley, Assistant Secretary F. Trubee Davidson and Major General Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, Senators Denen of Illinois, Brookhart of Iowa, and Representative Crenshaw of Iowa, who is from Good's home district, are representing the two Houses of Congress.

Mrs. Good was to be accompanied by her two sons; her sister, Mrs. John Fletcher; and Mrs. James Combs, sister of the Secretary.

The military procession from the White House to Union Station was to include a squadron of Cavalry, three battalions of Artillery and Infantry, a company of Bluejackets and a company of Marines with the Army band leading.

Army posts throughout the nation were to fire a 19-gun salute in honor of the departed chief at retreat tonight.

ICY PAVEMENTS CAUSED AUTOS TO SKID TODAY: SEVERAL MINOR ACCIDENTS HAVE BEEN REPORTED

Ice covered highways were a menace to automobile traffic both in the city and country today and many accidents were reported. In the city at an early hour this afternoon, no serious accidents had been reported although drivers of many cars had the experience of having their machines turn around and skid on the ice-sheathed pavings. State Motor-vehicle officers were kept busy checking up on accidents on the state highways and the conditions of some of the state roads, early this afternoon indicated that maintenance forces would be sprinkling the pavings with cinders or sand before dark.

Andrew Koehler, driving a bus which transports children from the vicinity of Amboy to the parochial high school in Sterling, could not control his heavy machine as it approached the arch south of Second street this morning about 8 o'clock and crashed into a Dodge sedan belonging to Wilson Dysart, throwing the car up on the curb and damaging the fenders. The bus was not damaged and the occupants were uninjured.

About 9:30, a Buick sedan driven by Mrs. George Perrin with her husband as a passenger, skidded at the curve at Drew's corners and plunged into a ditch and turned completely over. The car was slightly damaged but the occupants escaped with only minor bruises. While this wreck was being righted, a truck belonging to the Whiffen wholesale grocery company of Sterling rounded Drew's corners and started skidding. The driver lost control and the truck which was heavily loaded with groceries overturned in the ditch, the driver escaping unhurt.

Several cars had stopped to see the double crash as Samuel E. Johnson of Thomson, Ill., and three friends came east in a Studebaker touring car. At the turn, the Thompson car skidded striking a Ford coupe driven by E. R. Taylor of Huntington, Ind., tearing off a bumper and a fender and damaging the Studebaker. Johnson started for Dixon to have repairs made to his car and succeeded in reaching the curve at Hess's corners where his second crash occurred.

His car skidded on the ice at the turn and struck a Chevrolet coupe in which Arthur McBride of Nethen, Ill., and Leonard Young of Springfield were passengers. Mr. McBride sustained a deep gash across the right side of the face and was rushed to the office of a local physician where several stitches were required to close the wound. Young escaped with only minor injuries and both cars were badly wrecked.

Those close to the administration looked forward to a prompt and beneficial reaction from the Chief Executive's conferences with the presidents of the great eastern railroads and bankers from all sections of the nation and from assurances of large orders for railway and marine equipment that have grown out of Mr. Hoover's campaign in the few days that have elapsed since the original announcement of his plans.

Recess For Funeral.
Laid aside that the President might pay his last respects to the late Secretary James W. Good of the War Department, the Chief Executive's schedule of conferences with the leaders of American economic endeavor will be resumed tomorrow with a discussion of what the manufacturing and industrial field can do to advance his plans, attended by a group of men prominent in that phase of the nation's business.

Through the operation of mail contracts awards and loans from the $250,000,000 fund established by the Jones-White law to assist in the expansion of the merchant marine, the administration expects the shipyards to be humming with activity within the space of six months.

Plans to bring this about were announced last yesterday by Postmaster General Brown, speaking for the inter-departmental committee on ocean mail contracts, which for three months has been making a study to determine the best method of awarding postal shipping contracts.

He revealed that new liners for the North Atlantic service estimated to cost approximately $25,000,000 are planned, with vessels contemplated for other routes which will be the last word in modern marine architecture and engineering.

Real Estate Broker Faces Fraud Charge
St. Louis, Nov. 20 — (UP)—Arthur W. Overmeyer, president of a real estate company bearing his name, was under arrest today on complaints that he obtained $100,000 through alleged sale of forged deeds.

Circuit Attorney A. Miller who made an investigation of the case, declined to divulge evidence already obtained but said it would be presented to the grand jury in December.

Sterling Is Acting Governor Of State
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20 — (UP)—Lieutenant Governor Fred E. Sterling of Rockford, was Acting Governor of Illinois today in the absence of Governor Louis L. Emmerson, who, accompanied by Mrs. Emmerson, is en route to Biloxi, Miss., for several days vacation.

Before leaving, Emmerson reiterated a former statement that he had not received any official request for a special session of the legislature. The most recent agitation for a special session involves financial relief to Cook county, which owes the state over four million dollars in taxes.

Wealthiest City Can't Pay Workers
Evanston, Ill., Nov. 20 — (AP)—Being the wealthiest city per capita in the nation is a hollow honor to Evanston facing the possibility of suspending salaries or paying in script.

Collection of 1928 taxes has been held up by reassessment. One bank already has refused to advance money on the ground that until the reassessment is complete there are no "anticipated taxes."

Without further banking aid the city has enough money to operate only until Jan. 1, Mayor Bartlett said.

More Optimistic Psychology Felt Through Nation
First Result of President's Program For Prosperity

Washington, Nov. 20 — (AP)—A more optimistic psychology, inducted by the prospect of easier credit conditions and extensive railroad, shipyard and governmental construction, was foreseen today as the first product of President Hoover's program for increasing and stabilizing American prosperity.

Those close to the administration looked forward to a prompt and beneficial reaction from the Chief Executive's conferences with the presidents of the great eastern railroads and bankers from all sections of the nation and from assurances of large orders for railway and marine equipment that have grown out of Mr. Hoover's campaign in the few days that have elapsed since the original announcement of his plans.

GAME WARDEN, WOUNDED, FEARING SLOW DEATH IN WILDERNESS SHOT SELF TO DEATH, LEAVING NOTE

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 20 — (UP)—Apparently panic-stricken over loss of blood and the possibility of facing a slow death in the wilderness of the Jackson Hole country in western Wyoming, S. E. Cophaven, game warden, shot and killed himself, the Forest Service was advised today.

Cophaven's body was found, covered by snow, after a party had hunted more than a week for some trace of the missing man. With the body was a note, declaring that he had cut his arm while severing a rope and indicating that he was bleeding to death. His revolver, with one cartridge empty, was beneath his body. There was a bullet hole in his head.

Forest men declared that Cophaven was no more than three miles from a camp on Jackson Lake when he killed himself. It was believed that he became terrified with thoughts of a slow death and acted to hasten the end.

WINTER SWEPT OVER WEST AND MIDWEST TODAY
Below Zero Temperatures Reported From Many Places

Chicago, Nov. 20 — (UP)—Minus signs were thickly sprinkled over the northwestern weather map today as temperatures slid below zero in the first widespread cold wave of the season.

At Cheyenne, Lander and Sheridan, Wyo., and Yellowstone Park temperatures ranging from two to 12 degrees below zero were recorded, while the middle west showed drops of 20 to 40 degrees, with attendant snow, sleet and high winds.

In the Rocky Mountains the seventh snow storm of the season disrupted rail traffic and paralyzed the air mail systems. Denver was blanketed under two inches of snow, while four inches were reported at Cheyenne and Lander, Wyo.

The temperature dropped to 25 degrees in western Kansas and Nebraska. Ice and sleet hampered traffic in Montana.

Below freezing temperature reached St. Louis today and predictions were that the mercury would drop to 24 degrees before night.

Minnesota was suffering from its second day of wintry weather with temperatures as low as 20 degrees. Ice-coated highways slowed down automobile traffic to the crawling point.

Snow swept into Iowa from the northwest last night and continued to fall today as the mercury hung at 20 degrees.

Freezing weather and a threat of snow hung over Wisconsin but fair skies with lower temperatures were predicted for tomorrow.

As far south as Springfield, Ill., the thermometers had dropped below freezing. That point reported a low of 24 degrees with continued cold forecast.

In Chicago snow fell throughout the night, most of it melting when it reached the ground although the temperature stood at freezing.

Threaten To Bomb Waukegan City Hall
Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 20 — (AP)—Mystery threats to bomb Waukegan's new $100,000 city hall and the smashing of 20 windows in the building stirred city officials today.

Mayor S. J. Yager last night ordered a police guard placed about the building.

Purchase a year ago of the new city hall, formerly a residence, has since been the cause of a wrangle between city officials and property owners.

Mother Pleads That Kidnapers Feed Her Babe Required Foods

New York, Nov. 20 — (UP)—If he has read the newspapers and values the life of the baby he stole, a kidnapper somewhere was busy today compounding a complicated mixture of certified milk, lactic acid, special sugar and barley water.

The baby, Donald Larney, three months old, was kidnapped from his carriage in front of a Brooklyn department store yesterday, and his life is dependent on the special diet prescribed by physicians.

The child's mother, Mrs. Margaret Leary of Brooklyn, almost hysterical with anxiety, made the formula public through the newspaper in the hope the kidnapper might see it and keep Donald alive.

PITCHER TELLS OF PROGRESS IN PHONE SERVICE
Dixon Man Addressed State Association In Annual Meet

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20 — (UP)—Upon co-operation depends the success of all business enterprises, Louis Pitcher, Dixon, President of the Illinois Telephone Association, told upwards of 600 delegates at the opening session of the two-day annual convention of the association, here today.

"By rubbing elbows," Pitcher said, "with others engaged in the same business, we grasp the idea, and the high ideals begin to permeate, and we cannot help but absorb the enthusiasm."

One of the greatest developments in the telephone industry today, Pitcher said, was the elimination of the problem of talking to foreign points. This problem was solved, he said, through the progress of the telephone system.

"On the other hand," he said, "we must still into the smaller exchanges the necessity for them to study the ways of the larger ones. That is one of our largest problems today."

Pitcher reviewed the association's accomplishments of the past year, and in conclusion said, "we are engaged in a great business. Let us co-operate and keep it great."

Mayor J. Emil Smith, Springfield, welcomed the visitors to the city to open the convalescence.

A theater party and a dance tonight constitutes the social program for today.

Jury Believes Ghost Story In Land Suit
Chicago, Nov. 20 — (AP)—A ghost story, ladies and gentlemen.

The city wants to build a park on a site formerly occupied by a hospital and medical school. Owners of the property planned to build an apartment. When the city went to law yesterday it was to determine whether it should pay the owners' demands of $136,000 or its own offer for $28,500.

The city's attorney brought in the ghosts. He said many people had died in the hospital. He felt that the value of the property would be much lower on account of the apprehension apartment renters might have over the ghosts of those who had died on the site.

The jury listened to the ghost theory and returned a verdict for the city.

GET JURY IN BOOZE CASE
The selection of a jury in the county court to hear evidence in the proceedings brought against Robert Jones, charged in an information with possessing and selling intoxicating liquor, occupied the entire forenoon today. INJURED IN FALL
Mrs. W. R. Carr of 819 College Ave. fell through a trap door at her home Monday afternoon sustaining painful injuries, which necessitated her daughter, Mrs. Gangsli of Chicago, being called to care for her. Mrs. Carr suffered several cracked ribs and numerous bruises.

FEIGNED SICKNESS
Monday night he feigned paralysis and when the jailer left his cell door open, Ratliff ran out, snatched Jones' pistol and shot him three times. He was overpowered by E. K. Kilbourne, another jailer.

Feeling ran high and at Cisco. At 9 P. M. yesterday the storm of resentment broke. Shouting threats of vengeance, a crowd of men started on a run toward the jail. Others joined them at every street intersection. The number of cries brought hundreds more into the streets.

Kilbourne's attempt to halt the mob was futile. His keys were taken from him and he was pushed aside. Ratliff was lying on his bunk undressed for the night. He was jerked to his feet and dragged down the street to the first convenient telephone pole.

The rope from which the nude man dangled broke as he was swung into the air and he fell. A second rope was knotted around his neck and again he was lifted, until his toes just touched the pavement.

"Maybe he wants to say something," suggested one of the mob of some 150 men responsible for the lynching.

A murmur of assent ran through the crowd, where faces mirrored horror, pity or angry determination. There was a urge forward to hear the bandit's last words.

Couldn't Talk.
The rope was lowered and the noose loosened.

"I'll talk," Ratliff gasped but his parched throat held him mute.

"String him up, he doesn't want to talk," came a shout from the mob and he was hoisted high above the street. A few seconds later he was dead.

No arrests had been made today. It was pointed out that the size of the mob made official action difficult but authorities indicated they would take whatever steps seemed required after completing the investigation they started today.

Justice of the Peace Jim Steele ordered the body sent to an undertaking establishment after he was notified of the lynching.

Ratliff's death closed the Cisco Bank case. A youth named Davis, a member of the bandit quartet, was fatally wounded as he fled from the bank. Robert Hill, another, is serving a 99-year prison sentence. Henry Helms, a third, was electrocuted several months ago.

TORONTO'S NOVEMBER
After the gold and crimson splendor of October has departed, November days may seem dull and gray to the casual observer but the lover of all out-door finds a wistful beauty in these late fall days which has an appeal all its own.

After days of rain, a light mist wraps the fields around, the bare trees are etched in delicate tracery against a soft gray sky, and the beauty of their formation may be appreciated. The great elms are revealed in all their loveliness of grace and strength, with the edges of their branches forming a delicate lacework. The slim birches are wrapped in gold and white and the tall poplars march along the bare hillside. The fir trees seem to have taken on a deeper and more vivid green. The mist curls around the sturdy base of the cedar trees and their pointed tops make patterns against the sky. They look still and silent and steady. Beyond them are great blue-green pine trees, their plummy branches waving, dark and rich and beautiful, on the windy hilltop.

Along the wayside are drifted piles of golden brown leaves. The mist still lingers in the hollows of the hills. Veiled in this gray opal mist, the seared dull foliage, still standing in field and meadow, takes on a delicate beauty. Through the wet, glistening fences and the bare black trunks of the trees, there is a glimpse of fresh green fields of fall wheat, gleaming with light. But the fields are mostly bare and in the misty light are shaded into mauve and rose and amber, with the plowed land a rich magnolia.

Along the wayside the milkweed pods are bursting and the silvery winged seeds tumble over the edges of the beautiful gray-green pod with its delicate lining. Along the fences, and in the hedgerows, sharp eyes may discover the tangled vines of the bittersweet. The orange berries have burst open and reveal the vivid scarlet center, bringing a gleam of gaiety into the landscape.

There is color too in the red osiers that border the fields, and a gleam of gold in the willows that line the creek. Even the faded grasses along the wayside have a shimmer of silver and malve in the pale light. There is a tinge of elusive beauty over all the November fields which stirs the heart and wakens strange far-away melodies. When the early twilight falls and the low sun shines through the mists of the afternoon with shafts of amethyst and gold, there is a glory over all the earth, which whispers of fruition, of a restful waiting and a shining peace.

A HAND ACROSS THE SEA.

A few weeks ago a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Atlantic City, N. J., put on a membership campaign.

It got the use of a downtown store window for display of war relics. Among them was a marker that had been removed from the grave of a German soldier.

The commander of the post, Louis Izenskie, noticed the marker. It bore the name of Lieutenant Franz Xylaender, with an inscription, stating that this German officer had been killed in action on June 11, 1915. Under the inscription was an engraved iron cross, showing that the dead man had been decorated for bravery.

It didn't seem quite right to Commander Izenskie that this marker from the grave of a dead war hero should lie in an American store window when the dead man's relatives very likely didn't even know where their loved one was buried.

So he got into touch with the German Red Cross and started tracing Lieutenant Xylaender's record. Eventually it was learned that the officer's family is now living in the little German town of Lauban. Izenskie promptly sent the grave marker to the family, with a letter of explanation. A short time later he got the following reply from a German Red Cross official:

"The entire town of Lauban has become convinced that you cannot believe the pictures of America and Americans painted in the newspapers. No warlike and greedy people would be capable of such a touching act, and needless to say everyone in Lauban has a new and truer understanding of America."

There's food for a good deal of thought in that little story. First of all, of course, it proves that Commander Izenskie is a pretty fine type of ex-service man. War hatreds are dead, as far as he is concerned; he's ready to do all he can to restore friendly relations with the one-time enemy.

But the real significance of the thing goes deeper than that.

It proves, once more, how amazingly easy it is for the barriers of international jealousy and suspicion to be broken down. A little effort will do so much—a little neighborliness will go such a long way!

The solution of the age-old problem of war and peace lies right along the pathway blazed by this New Jersey war veteran. No war could last a week unless the people of the warring nations misunderstood one another profoundly. But once war starts, misunderstanding is inevitable. Governments spend huge sums to make it so. No one bothers to remember that the people he is fighting against are, after all, very much like himself.

The time to work for international understanding is now, while we are all at peace. And the best way to do it is through just such little, thoughtful acts as that of Commander Izenskie.

THEY DIDN'T HAVE LEISURE.

"Women," remarks a writer in a current magazine, "have suddenly exchanged leisure for equality—obviously the most stupid move ever made in history by a privileged class."

We're quoting that statement because it is so typical of the flabby thinking indulged in by many modern commentators on the "new woman" question.

The number of women who actually had anything approaching leisure before this present era of equality was certainly not above two per cent of all the women in the country. The farmer's wife certainly never had leisure—not enough to keep her from being an old woman at 40. The workingman's wife, with four or five children to bring up and a house to look after, never had leisure. Only the rich man's wife had it.

Just about half of all the high-flown discussions of "woman's place" in the modern world are utterly worthless, because—like the one quoted above—they make the idiotic assumption that the stay-at-home woman of the old days was a member of the leisure class.

An author married a rich widow the other day. One good way to achieve success at the writing game.

A Kansas City dentist asks $10,000 damages because his name was left out of the telephone directory. That's going to be a somewhat painful extraction.

How will the United States of Europe ever be able to get along without a Heflin?

A pastor says that women who sing while washing dishes break fewer than those who don't. It all depends upon whether you'd rather hear a broken dish or a cracked voice.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The sled, still standing almost straight, sailed on through the air at quite a gait. The Tinymites were dangling down and hanging on real tight. A funny way to ride, that's true, but what else could the whole bunch do? The wind had blown the sled wrong and they couldn't make it right.

"Aw, gee," said Clowny. "What fun's this? It seems that something goes amiss each time we take another trip. I think I've had enough. We've been in caves and sailed through air. In fact, we've been most anywhere. Why, even on the ocean blue when it was good and rough."

"I only wish for once and all that we would very gently fall right down to earth and stay there. I would never leave again. We'd build a little house of wood. That isn't hard. I'm sure we could. We'd simply lie around and play games now and then."

"Oh, not for me!" another cried. "I'd rather have a thrilling ride."

(The sled shoots straight into a cave in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

VASCO DA GAMA

On Nov. 20, 1497, Vasco da Gama sailed around the Cape of Good Hope.

The Portuguese navigator was the first European to reach India by the maritime route round Africa.

He was descended from a noble family and was born at Sines, a small seaport of Portugal. After some years at court, he was chosen to command the expedition dispatched by King Emmanuel to India by the all-sea route.

Vasco da Gama sailed from Lisbon in July, 1497, and on Nov. 20 doubled the Cape of Good Hope. In December, he reached the Rio de Infante where he had to suppress a mutiny of his sailors who shrank from facing unknown dangers that awaited them. On Christmas Day they sighted the coast.

They anchored off Malindi April 15 and took on board an Indian pilot. After a voyage of 23 days across the Indian ocean they reached the coast of Malabar May 17, 1498.

The ruler of Calicut was hostile and Da Gama was forced to fight his way out of the harbor on the return trip. He returned to Lisbon Sept. 8, 1498.

Daily Health Talk

ARE YOU FIT TO MARRY?

By Arnold E. Strauss, M. D., Lansing, Mich.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

In the city of Berlin, Germany, an institution opened several years ago which undertakes to advise young people, after a very exact examination of their social, educational, psychological, hereditary and especially physical conditions, whether or not they can marry with a bright outlook to happiness. This institution is very much frequented. It has been said that it would be worth while for one of our philanthropists to found similar institutions in this country.

Now the experiences of this institution point especially to one outstanding step: A health examination before marriage really is of utmost importance. Millions of words are written every day about troubles within married life, about divorce mills, and of unhappy children of divorced parents, who in later life molest society. Much of this is due to unsuspected physical and mental conditions of the couple.

There are the so-called social diseases which run the life of the partner forever. Thousands of young women need operations in the first year after marriage without being pregnant. There are the many sexual incompatibilities. There are mental

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with indigestible foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

DIXON FARM BOY ONE OF TWO WHO WILL BE HONORED

Elmer Williams To Get
Title Of "American Farmer" at K. C.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—(AP).—Two Illinois farm boys will be honored with the title and rank of "American Farmer" at the National Congress of Students of Vocational Agriculture in Kansas City tonight. State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, J. E. Hill announced today.

The congress of future farmers is being held in connection with the American Royal Livestock Show. The two boys, Elmer Williams, of Dixon, and Edwin Johnson, of Assumption, will be presented with Golden Keys at the banquet which closes the convention tonight.

The Dixon and Assumption youths, in accordance with provisions of the rules that govern the Future of America, were placed in nomination yesterday as aspirants to represent the "State Farmers" of Illinois in the fourth and highest degree of the national organization. Their election late Tuesday, was based upon their records as students and in their agricultural and community service.

Edwin Johnson, star agricultural student of Assumption high school, has a total of 904 project hours to his credit during the years he has attended high school. His projects earned a total labor income of $407, and he has upward of $2,000 in savings and investments.

In addition to his home project work and school activities, young Johnson assists his father in the operation of a 160 acre stock farm near Assumption, involving the care of a herd of shorthorns, from 50 to 100 hogs, a big flock of sheep and the farm herd of dairy cattle.

The ability to work with others, an essential qualification for the advanced degree, has been demonstrated by the Assumption student in that he has organized a local club, and has helped new members select their stock and make a start in dairy cattle breeding. He has conducted student tours to the Illinois State Fair, serving as their guide and cashier.

In his studies, Johnson's scholarship average for the years he has attended high school is 88. His strong points were made in the agricultural studies. In animal husbandry he averaged 93, and in soils and crops, his average is 90.

Dixon Lad's Record.
The Dixon lad, Elmer Williams, reports a labor income of $1740. In the 1925-26 season, he earned $88.53 on a corn project, producing 50.5 bushels per acre by following instructions in seed selection and testing. In his corn project, he also compared results of manure and phosphate for soil fertility.

In his home farm activities, the Dixon lad started a 5-acre alfalfa field, made a soil survey of his father's farm, selected and tested 40 bushels of seed corn, and assisted in the general operation of the farm.

By way of community activities, Williams organized the Lee county future show for Duroc-Jersey swine in 1928 and 1929 and helped prepare the Dixon high school exhibit at Aurora fair.

Elmer's extra curricular activities, include prominent places in the dramatic, athletic, musical, and social life in Dixon High School. By way of awards that he has won in agricultural competition, he represented his school in the state grain judging contest; was a member of the state championship farm stock judging contest; was a member of the state championship farm stock judging team in 1927; placed second, individually in that contest; a member of the team that represented Illinois in the Royal show of 1927 and placed 9th in national competition.

Heavy Scoring In Vogue In Hockey

New York, Nov. 20.—(UP)—Heavy scoring continued to be the year's hockey vogue as National Hockey League teams played their third round games last night. Forty-two goals were scored in the five league contests, fifteen being produced in Pittsburgh's 10 to 5 win over Toronto.

Every team scored at least once, although it was not until the final minute of play that the rookie Maccas hit the net and saved the New York Americans from being the first team shut out under hockey's new code.

Two teams scored only once, Chicago's Blackhawks defeating the New York Americans 5 to 1 and the Montreal Maroons defeating their intra-city rivals, the Canadiens, by the same score.

Boston's Bruins, last year's champions, scored their third consecutive victory by defeating the New York Rangers 3 to 2 and are now leading the American group with six points, while Ottawa defeated Detroit, 6 to 4 and took the international group lead with a total of 5 points.

Players showed increased familiarity with the new rules and penalties were infrequent in all of the games.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Iowa's football squad is preparing for what may prove to be its last game with a Western Conference opponent.

On January 1, unless the Big Ten Faculty Committee on Athletics changes its collective mind, the ban on Iowa's competition against conference teams will become effective, as outlined last June when the Hawkeyes was charged with having failed to conduct its athletic affairs as required by Conference rules. So the school that wrecked Minnesota's championship hopes for the last two years and gave the championship Purdue eleven of its toughest battles of the season, will be making probably its farewell appearance in the league Saturday when it engages Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The Conference Faculty Committee will meet in Chicago Dec. 6 and 7, to decide if Iowa has a revenge motive. Michigan, counted as no match for Iowa last year, arose to defeat the Hawkeyes 10 to 6 in the final game of the season, and Coach Ingwersen's team is working to be certain that does not happen this year.

The game will be the last, in any case, for Captain Willis Glassgow, one of the greatest ball carriers in Iowa history; Pignatelli, quarterback; Myers and Roberts, a fine pair of guards; Fuhrman, another guard; Westra, tackle; Carlson, end; and fullback Hagerty, all seniors.

Purdue's champions did little work yesterday, but were down for scrimmage against Indiana lays this afternoon. Coach Jimmy Phelan has cautioned the Boilermakers against figuring Indiana for a pushover, and will send his best against the Hoosiers, who have won but one major contest this season. Coach Page of Indiana is devoting the final practice sessions to defensive preparation.

While snow kept Minnesota in doors for practice yesterday, Wisconsin, which tackles the Gophers at Minneapolis Saturday, was driven through a long drill in freezing weather.

Illinois and Ohio State are preparing for the contest Saturday which will decide second place, as though they were after the championship. The Ohio-Illinois games always have been bitterly fought and the results, more often than not, have been of upset nature.

In a season during which upsets have become extremely common, Northwestern is priming with the hope of being the team to smash Notre Dame's drive for national honors. Northwestern has had two days of scrimmage which Coach Hanley hopes has shaken his squad out of the slump that gave Indiana victory last week. Notre Dame's preparation has been held up by weather conditions, no outdoor work having been done this week. The Ramblers worked in the field house yesterday, and Coach Rockne remained at home.

Chicago faces the job of attempting to compete with one of the biggest teams in the country in the University of Washington Huskies. The westerners' line averages better than 190 pounds from end to end, and Coach Stagg has indicated he will throw the burden of attack on forward passing. The Huskies are doing their preparatory work at Soldier Field, but will take their final workout at Stagg Field Friday.

Interest at New Haven centers not so much about what the team is actually doing upon the practice gridiron as in whether Albie Booth will be able to face the Crimson. The midweek No. 4 back was the only Yale regular who did not get into a uniform yesterday. He appeared at the field and went through a few formations in street clothes, but then departed for an infirmary for further treatment of his charlie horse.

Conflicting statements last week regarding Booth's chances to play against Princeton caused many football sharps to discount the announcement of George Connors, Yale trainer, that Booth would face Harvard at some stage of the game.

An odds-on favorite two weeks ago to end Lafayette's run of ten straight victories, Lehigh now is groping about for an upset to pull itself through next Saturday's game against its ancient rival. Measured through their common games against Rutgers, Lafayette should be highly favorable. A victory for Lehigh would end the middle three season in a tie, with one victory for each team.

Harry Stuhldreher has realigned the Villanova forces for the clash with North Carolina state on Saturday, hoping for a scoring punch. Temple seems well prepared to give a good account of itself against Drake, champion of the Missouri Valley Conference. The Owls scored three touchdowns yesterday in a scrimmage against the scrubs.

The Navy expects a mediumly hard game against West Virginia Wesleyan, its final dress-rehearsal for the climax against Dartmouth. Ohio Wesleyan, not so strong as last year, should serve the Army in the same manner a week before the Notre Dame game.

Approaching its final game against Bucknell on Saturday, Fordham has a perfect record, except for two tie games, one with Davis and Elkins and another with West Virginia. To gain its first 1000 per cent winning record, Fordham must halt a Bucknell eleven which has rallied sharply from an early defeat by Washington and Jefferson.

Harmont's successor was not named. The resignation of the planner and promoter of the Stadium project, was presented and accepted after a long conference with the Board of Directors. Sidney N. Strotz, Secretary and Treasurer of the Stadium Corporation, yesterday said Harmont's resignation had been requested, and Harmont had announced that he would fight to retain office.

After the meeting issued a statement in which he said he previously had asked to be permitted to resign, and that it finally had become possible for him to give up the office. He said that only the "most kindly feeling" had been requested, and other members of the board, and that he would stand by as a member of the corporation, and will continue as a member of the Board of Directors and the executive committee.

Harmont's resignation, to place a more experienced business man in the presidency, although he denied the board was not satisfied with Harmont's work which has included the promotion of two world championship fights and numerous other big gate attractions.

A report that Ringling Brothers had invested heavily in Stadium Corporation stock, and would engage Jack Dempsey to replace Harmont, has persisted, but has not been substantiated.

The Moline Centrals football team will oppose the Dixon Ads at the airport field in next Sunday afternoon's contest. The Centrals represent one of the fastest gridiron combinations of the tri-cities and the local fans are assured a good entertainment.

Some of the Ads who suffered injuries in last Sunday's defeat at the hands of the Rochelle Independents are rapidly recovering and getting ready for the Moline battle.

HARMON QUILTS AS PRESIDENT OF BIG STADIUM

He Accedes To Request Of Directors That He Resign Post

Chicago, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Paddy Harmon has seen his dream of a huge indoor sports arena become reality—in the erection of the Chicago Stadium—but will watch someone else guide its affairs henceforth.

Harmon relinquished the presidency of the Chicago Stadium Corporation last night at the demand of the Board of Directors, having served since the $7,000,000 building was opened last March. He controls, he says, 42 per cent of the stock in the corporation, and will continue as a member of the Board of Directors and the executive committee.

Harmon's successor was not named. The resignation of the planner and promoter of the Stadium project, was presented and accepted after a long conference with the Board of Directors. Sidney N. Strotz, Secretary and Treasurer of the Stadium Corporation, yesterday said Harmont's resignation had been requested, and Harmont had announced that he would fight to retain office.

After the meeting issued a statement in which he said he previously had asked to be permitted to resign, and that it finally had become possible for him to give up the office. He said that only the "most kindly feeling" had been requested, and other members of the board, and that he would stand by as a member of the corporation, and will continue as a member of the Board of Directors and the executive committee.

Harmont's resignation, to place a more experienced business man in the presidency, although he denied the board was not satisfied with Harmont's work which has included the promotion of two world championship fights and numerous other big gate attractions.

A report that Ringling Brothers had invested heavily in Stadium Corporation stock, and would engage Jack Dempsey to replace Harmont, has persisted, but has not been substantiated.

The Moline Centrals football team will oppose the Dixon Ads at the airport field in next Sunday afternoon's contest. The Centrals represent one of the fastest gridiron combinations of the tri-cities and the local fans are assured a good entertainment.

Each year, the Wildcats have given their coach a football victory for a birthday present. They vow Saturday will be no exception even though they tackle the championship-bound Ramblers.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

GRACE CHURCH NOTES—Despite the inclemency of the weather a large congregation greeted the Evangelist in Grace Evangelical Church on Tuesday evening. A company of friends from Shannon with their pastor were present to enjoy the services of the evening. The theme was "Elements That Make For A Successful Revival Meeting." The text, 1 Cor. 3:9 "For we are laborers together with God."

The speaker said in part as follows: The greatest need of the present day Christian Church is a thorough going revival of religion. To bring this about the church must first realize that God is the supreme revivalist and that the Holy Spirit is the chief soul-winner. A genuine revival is a divine refreshing of the human heart. God has been and still is a wonder-worker and with God all things are possible. To believe to see great and marvelous things, to expect nothing is to get nothing and that is to grieve the Spirit and the result is absolute failure. The end of preaching the gospel is the saving of souls and the building up of believers.

GERMANY GETS BIG SHARE OF TOURIST TRADE

Nation Proves Especially Popular with American Trippers

Berlin.—(UP)—Now that most of the tourists have packed up their souvenirs and have returned home for another year Germany is able to sit back and take stock of what doubtless was the most successful guest season in its history. Visitors came to this country during the past summer from every corner of the world, but greatest in number, at least at many of the more prominent resorts and larger cities, were those who came from the United States.

This influx of foreign visitors has

Found Relief Through Kavatore

"Tried Everything But Kavatore is the Only Remedy that Brought Relief," Says Well-Known Ann Arbor Woman.

"Kavatore" sure is the most wonderful medicine I have ever used and anyone who doubts it has but to ask me about it, because I had been troubled for years by kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder, and I have tried every kind of medicine that doctors and friends advised, but only found relief through the use of Kavatore. This amazing statement was made by Mrs. M. D. Mast, 504 Spring Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan, to the Kavatore Man.

MRS. M. D. MAST.

"For years I was troubled with kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder that caused sharp shooting pains in my back, and such dizzy spells that at times I actually reeled and had to catch hold of something to support myself. Then, too, I had a bad case of neuritis to add to my miseries. No one knew the suffering I went through. I seemed to be sick all the time. Whenever I tried to eat, pains, gas and a heavy feeling in my stomach were sure to follow. My kidneys being weak caused my back to ache constantly. Between the stomach pains and the kidney weakness, it was impossible to get a real night's sleep. My joints were sore and swollen and I was always so tired I was simply dragging myself around. But the few bottles of Kavatore that I have taken has made me feel better in every way. I hardly have to get up at night at all and the pain has left my back and I can eat anything. There is no doubt about Kavatore. Herb Tonic being a wonder worker and I feel sure it will do for others what it has done for me."

The Kavatore man is at the Ford Hopkins Store, where he is daily meeting the public and personally explaining the merits of this great preparation. The famous Kavatore figure (an ingenious human torso showing every organ of the body) is used in this demonstration and everyone is cordially invited to see and study this figure, an experience which will be interesting and instructive.

been growing every year, a factor which may justly be considered as portraying the increasing popularity of Germany's spas, forests and mountains, its castles, art galleries and museums among people with a taste for travel, natural beauty and art. Principal contributors to the annual increase of Germany's visitors have been the Americans.

Publicity has played some part in attracting these Americans, although expenditures for publicity have of necessity been reasonably small. There are at present two German information bureaus in the United States, of which the more important is the German Tourist Information Office in New York. Operated by the "Reichsbahnzentrale fuer den Deutschen Reiseverkehr," which has similar offices in London, Paris, Rotterdam, Milan, Zurich, Vienna, Budapest, Prague, Goetborg, Copenhagen and Havana, this office is devoted to providing prospective tourists with travel and other information which will induce them to come to Germany and to assisting them in arranging their tours when they decide to come.

The total annual budget provided for all the offices of this organization approximates 2,800,000 marks, with the largest share going toward maintenance of the New York bureau. This sum is contributed in its entirety by the German National Railways. The second New York information office, the German Health Resorts bureau, is understood to have a smaller budget. This office is supported by the hotel owners and spa managements of the country.

Popularity of Munich. There is no accurate way of measuring the number of American tourists who visit Germany within any given period. Nevertheless, usually competent observers believe that between 50,000 and 60,000 spent their vacation here this past summer. Moreover, it is indicated by information gathered from hotel keepers, the railways and the steamship lines that that number of American tourists this year represented a 15 per cent increase over the number who came last year, while the 1928 total was estimated as having been larger by 20 per cent than that of 1927.

Other statistics show that in the first half of 1929 Munich entertained 15 per cent more Americans than it did in the corresponding period of the previous year. This year 48,923 foreigners visited Munich (as against 45,190 last year), and of these 6,923 were United States citizens (compared with 6,041 in 1928). As many as 70 per cent of the persons attending the Munich festival plays, directed by Max Reinhardt, were foreign tourists. At the Heidelberg festival tourists made up 60 per cent of the audience, or exactly 23,031, of whom 6,553 were Americans and 1,842 English.

POET'S CORNER

THE AUCTIONEER.

A jovial, jolly and jubilant man,
So censured when right or when wrong,
Is the auctioneer when he's selling a pan
And swinging his words into song.
His eyes have the glister of youth in their glow;
He reads human minds at a glance;
Without even telling, he's certain to know
That you are his victim by chance.

A story he tells or with prudence proclaims
How foolish it is not to pay
A much higher price than the last bidder names
For articles worth more today.

He jokes with the fellow who offers a bid
To start selling something for fun;
What it has done for me."

DEPEND ON ZEMO TO STOP ITCHING

Use soothing, healing, invisible Zemo for the torture of itching skin. This clean, reliable family antiseptic helps bring relief in thousands of homes, stops itching and draws the heat and sting out of the skin. ZEMO has been used for twenty years with remarkable success for all forms of annoying, itching skin irritations. "Relief with first application," thousands say, 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.

But soon that poor fellow forgets what he did
And buys it before he is done.

The jostling crowd is excited and tense
When bids briskly bringeth a sale;
The auctioneer laughs and a new eloquence
Is found in his voice without fail.

Gimcracks and knickknacks, ornaments or antiques,
Fond jewels and furniture, toys,
A farm or a fireplace, a home or a freak—
To sell them his paramount joys.

The cattle, the horses, the sheep and the hogs,
The mules and the goats and the cat,
The chickens, the turkey, the geese and the dogs
Are wondering where they are at.

The gentleman jester—the shrewd auctioneer—
A servant unfailing to man,
He taketh a laugh and he taketh a sneer,
Yet serveth the best that he can.

It matters not how the north wind wildly wails
Or blows zero weather without.
The weather means naught to the crier of sales
When bidders are buying about.

Contentment he finds when he's out with the crowd,
Where people are anxious to buy.
His hours are so happy when shouting aloud,
I wonder why more do not try.

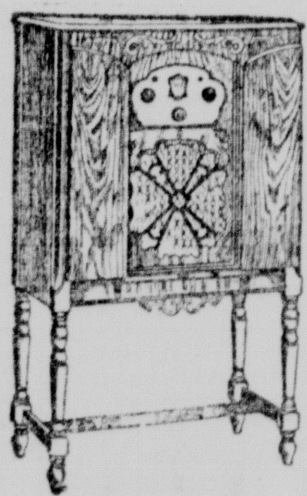

Still, day after day with its griefs and delights,
The auctioneer's calling resounds.
He serveth his best and he doeth it right,
And praise for his toiling abounds.

—Bela R. Halderman, Franklin Grove, Ill.

THE NIGHT IS DRUNK WITH BEAUTY; all the air
Is flooded with a mystic melody,
And waves of music ravishingly rare,
Lave all the ambient space 'twixt earth and sky.
From rippling seas of lustrous light, the moon
Smiles with soft radiance on night's perfect noon.
The glassy bosom of the limpid stream
Reflects the timid light of myriad stars,
Whose shadowy rays, as in some fairy dream,
Cage half the slumbering world in silver bars,
And weave a gauzy web of silvery wire,
From dome to tower, from minaret to spire.

All Summer sounds are hushed, the splay breath
Of summer flowers comes not, for they are gone,
But their last fragrance, yielded up in death,
Mingles with ripe fruit odors, and is borne
In clouds of deathless perfume far on high,
And angels breathe it with a rapturous sigh.

A solemn silence rest on land and sea,
Spirits and geni haunt the midnight skies,
And gentle ghosts through every moon-lit tree,
Gaze heavenward with sweet and quiet eyes.

Nature is regal in this Autumn night
Mid-summer's amorous eyes are not so bright.

NEWS CHURCHES

BAPTIST CHURCH

Last night's service was preceded by the Agoga class, who afterwards were present at the Evangelistic service. The opening song service was greatly appreciated by everybody. The special duet was charmingly rendered and the vibro-harp solo also.

Mr. Marshall spoke on "The Hands of Destiny." He said: "There is a beautiful picture in the art galleries at Munich painted by Albrecht Durer called the 'Appealing Hands.' The story told about it is that Franz Hals, afterwards also a famous artist, came into Durer's studio one morning and saw the Christ of the Appeal he was painting. Lifting up his hands to Heaven, he cried out, 'O My God, give me the power to paint like that.' 'Hold! Franz, hold your hands like that. That position and those hands are what I want to complete my picture,' and he rapidly sketched them and today the picture is known as 'The Appealing Hands.' Not the 'Christ of the Appeals' illustrating the text, 'All day long have I stretched out my hands and no man hath regarded me.' I want to draw your attention to the hands of the Master as the 'Hands of Destiny.' In the upper room of many wonderful memories, on the first Sunday after His Resurrection, 'He showed unto them His Hands.' They were the hands of a workman, 'My Father worketh hitherto and I work.' They said concerning Him, 'Is this not the carpenter?' In the Julian days a patrician Roman said, with a sneer to a Christian in the streets of Rome, 'What is the carpenter of Nazareth doing now?' And the prophetic answer was: 'He is building a coffin for your emperor.' At that very hour, Julian the Apostate Emperor was dying in battle in Parthia, saying: 'O Gallien, Thou hast conquered.' They are hands of healing. He went into the home where fever raged and Peter's mother-in-law felt the touch that expelled the fever and restored her again. The leprosy fled from the body of the leper at that touch and to the deaf sound rushed in and silence was dispelled. To the dumb touch of those hands permitted sound to break through the gates of silence. Even the dead were awakened to life, like the widow's son at Nain at that touch of power. His hands were and are hands of strength. He gripped sinking Peter on the Lake of Galilee and saved him from death and His promise is concerning us, 'That none shall pluck them out of My hands.' His nail-pierced hands are the evidence of Calvary and a purchased redemption.

These hands are lifted up in the very throne of the eternal in intercession for us. They were raised in blessing over the children of Salem. In the in nat Summaus, on Olivet when He was leaving for the glory and they will be raised in blessing on His return for us. But these same hands will become the hands of eternal separation at the great white throne judgment—the saved on His right hand—the unsaved on His left. Let these nail-pierced hands save tonight.

Children's service this afternoon at 4:15. Prayer meeting in the east room at 7:15 P. M. Evening service at 7:30 when the pastor will preach on 'Hope's Haven.' The Kindigs will be in charge of the song service. Come tonight. A hearty welcome awaits you.

Chance Query Recovers Ring Lost 6 Years

Edgerton, Minn.—(UP)—A ring, lost for six years, was restored to Mrs. Wierkeradd because she said the right thing at the right time. While a tenant occupying the farm formerly rented by Mrs. Wierkeradd was visiting at her home she asked: "Did anyone ever find a ring on your place? I lost one there about six years ago." Thereupon the visitor pulled the ring from his pocket and told that he had found it two years ago but never knew its owner.

Why the world awards first place to STUDEBAKER EIGHTS

Eleven world records for speed and endurance—and more American stock car records than all other makes combined—are held by Studebaker Eights.

This year's Penrose Trophy Race to the summit of Pike's Peak was won in record time by a Studebaker President Eight—over a tortuous twisting roadway involving 154 breathtaking curves.

The greatest record in the history of transportation established over a year ago by Studebaker's President Eight that traveled 30,000 miles in 26,326 consecutive minutes—still stands unchallenged. And this time-tried championship stamina is built into every Studebaker Eight—President, Commander or Dictator.

Studebaker is the world's largest builder of Eights because Studebaker Eights are brilliant and thrifty beyond anything motordom has known. Drive one of the new Studebaker Eights before committing yourself to any new car—Six or Eight.

Floors of Oak Are Inexpensive

THE floors in your home are really as much a part of the furnishings as your furniture. They must not only stand up under constant use, but they should be attractive. Oak floors answer both requirements—and they are inexpensive. The average small home can have oak floors throughout at very little more than ordinary floors cost, and they add much to the investment value of the home. The quickest way you can determine this important question is by asking us to tell you exactly how much it will cost per room to floor with oak. We'll figure on dependable Long-Bell oak flooring, known to home-builders everywhere because of its beauty and durability—and give you the exact figures of cost, without obligation.

OBITUARY

MRS. FAY V. BOTT
(Contributed)

Mrs. Fay Voyles Bott, wife of Charles D. Bott and daughter of Sidney and Ellen Voyles, died at her home in Dixon, Ill., November 6, aged 42 years. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, one son, four sisters, Mrs. Cora Bishop, Mrs. Lill Libke, New Albany, Ind., Mrs. Cettie Morgan, Rockford, Ill., and Mrs. Iva Martin of Smithfield, Ill., and numerous relatives and friends in the vicinity of Palmyra to mourn her departure.

The deceased was possessed of a kind hearted and friendly disposition and all who knew her was her friend.

Her passing removes from the home a faithful companion, a kind and loving mother, a steadfast friend and neighbor, who has completed her earth's pilgrimage and consigned to One "who dwells in a house not made with hands eternal in the Heavens."

Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ at Palmyra, Saturday at 1:00 P. M., by Rev. Charles Martin of Smithfield, Ill., and interment in Palmyra cemetery.

Mrs. Bott was born and reared in Palmyra and lived there for some time after her marriage to Mr. Bott, who was also a resident of the community. She has many friends who mourn her untimely death.—(Palmyra, Ind., Gazette.)

MRS. SARAH BEHR.

"For a long time I was highly nervous," said Mrs. Sarah Behr, 2719 Summit Avenue, East St. Louis, Ill. "I tried lots of highly recommended medicines for just such troubles as mine, but none of them ever benefited me the slightest. I was really in a deplorable condition, unable to sleep and always in a very depressed state of mind. Finally I lost my appetite and had no desire for food whatever."

"A friend recommended Konjola to me and I decided to give it a trial. My nerves became more quiet and soothed and soon that depressed feeling disappeared entirely. Sound, refreshing sleep is mine and my appetite is fine. My friends were astonished when they saw the change in me. I could hardly believe it myself. No wonder this is called the master medicine, and I want the world to know what it did for me."

Konjola is sold in Dixon, Ill., at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 W. First St., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Fortunately the thief was frightened and left so hurriedly that he left two sacks containing white chicken feathers just inside the door. Emmett now has a good dou-

Edna soon recovered her natural poise and welcomed her guests very cordially. The evening was spent with music and games of various kinds. At a late hour refreshments were served after which the guests departed wishing their hosts many more happy anniversaries. She received a number of beautiful presents.

Rabbits seem quite plentiful this year. George Near was out awhile Sunday and succeeded in securing one day's bag—fifteen bunnies.
